HEROES FROM HEAVEN

Inside the mind of genius Dr. Scott Glenn

by Barbara Burke

Dr. Scott Glenn's "Heroes from Heaven" Aims for the Big Screen Pressing a Motivational Message Aimed at Rebooting the World to Regain Peace and Hope

It's 2145. Tyranny, turmoil and tumult prevail. Due to a pernicious paucity of leadership and an abysmal absence of spiritual focus, the world is a pathetic manifestation of what the philosopher John Locke predicted in 1689 - "Where law ends, tyranny begins."

Such chaos and crises have been foreshadowed since the beginning of time, a possible demise that, in our tale, has amplified seven times. The hapless, hopeless, aimless and godless leaders of before long ago cast aside mankind's essential morals, values and ethics, foolishly believing they could somehow outwit the divine.

Picture a now-divided world's with seven Alliance Continents, each tyrannically ruled by its own wicked ruler. Their laws are simple: Neglect any type of religion and loathe women. Obey not and you meet your destiny: Instant death or Hatred Camp, a faith far worse. There's no escape possible and mankind, if it is to survive, desperately needs help, real help and fast as time's running out...

This is a tale about cataclysmic crises. However, it is also a tale celebrating salvation and redemption because, as the heroes set out to restore a destroyed world, a key villain finally has an epic epiphany - he realizes that he has embraced the wrong side of history. The ultimate destiny of mankind hangs in the balance as all the competing dynamics, complicated by the inherent faults of man, vie for victory.

Launching from these central themes and the seemingly irresolvable challenges, an unprecedented, breathtaking forthcoming good versus evil film, 'Heroes from Heaven,' by Dr. Scott Glenn (creator/writer) and Claire Hutchinson (script) is approaching production.

Heroes from Heaven is a 2017 Christian Film Festival Award Winner for Best Writer (Claire Hutchinson), Best Script (Dr. Scott Glenn and Claire Hutchinson), and Best Script Fan Favorite (Dr. Scott Glenn and Claire Hutchinson)! The script and forthcoming film are both based on the award-winning book, Heroes from Heaven: Battle Ground Earth by Dr. Glenn.

It is always intriguing to learn a little bit about the details regarding the life of one of the creators of such a cutting-edge production.

"Love, discipline and motivation are keys to life." Dr. Scott Glenn, told Hollywood Weekly. "Comprehending what love is and displaying it appropriately is what life is all about! Find your God-given gifts and use them according to his glory!"

Dr. Glenn has shared many of his God-given gifts with the world. He is a highly decorated U.S. Marine. He is an academic and an educator. He is a published author. He is an adored and motivational coach. He is an often sought-after motivational speaker.

A native of Pottstown, Pennsylvania, Dr. Glenn was an outstanding three-sport athlete prior to attending the West Virginia University Institute of Technology (WVU Tech), where he majored in History and Government. During his tenure at WVU Tech, he was a first-team All-League selection as a running back. Glenn led the West Virginia Conference in rushing in sequential in the 1980s, and he is currently WVUIT's All-Time Leading Rusher.

In 1993, Dr. Glenn enlisted in the United States Marine Corps, where he served as a fearless M1A1 Tanker. In the Marine Corps, he was honored to be named "Marine of The Year" (Tanker), and Power Lifting Champion of the Camp Lejeune 2nd Tank Battalion in North Carolina. His tour in the Corps included the 1994 operations of Able Vigil (Cuban Refugee Crises) and Uphold Democracy (Port Au Prince Haiti Crises).

After honorably serving our country, Dr. Glenn took his powerful prowess on a journey of leadership and coaching.

In 1999, he served as an assistant football coach at Pennsylvania's Unionville-Chaddsford school district, transforming the team and helping to turn the program around from a 2-10 season to a 4-3 league record. In 2002, he was hired as Head Coach at Unionville, making him Chester County's second high school African American Head Football Coach in history. That same year, he was nominated Head Football in Reading Pennsylvania that the Economist magazine listed among the top 50 American colleges and universities for economic value in 2015.

There, Dr. Glenn truly added value, serving as an assistant coach in 2004, where he was part of the ECAC Championship team. He coached at Albright College until 2007. In 2008, he served as the defensive coordinator at Pottstown High School in Pennsylvania. 2010, Dr. Glenn's first and only coaching year at Kutztown University, involved the best season that the University has ever experienced. With a number one seed in the National playoffs, Coach Glenn was part of the school's best season ever, achieving a 10-1 record.

Dr. Glenn's remarkable ability to coach – to lead and to guide athletically talented young people as they segue to adulthood – to teach them the difference between good and evil - represents a central characteristic that he infuses in all of his endeavors.

In addition to his coaching achievements, Dr. Glenn has served in the correctional system as an officer and counselor and has worked in both private and public school sectors helping to revive and establish alternative educational programs in several states.

Dr. Glenn is invested in and cares about the future of our youth and of society. He holds a Bachelor of Arts Degree in History and Government, a Pennsylvania private schools Social Studies Certificate, an MBA in Business Administration and Marketing, and is a Doctor of Education. He serves as an Instructor of Business and Economics at The Pennsylvania State University, Instructor of Marketing at Goldey-Beacom College in Wilmington Delaware (International students), and serves on the board of Empowering Women's Engagement Foundation, Inc., in Orlando, Florida, Dr. Glenn is a board member for College Possible (Philadelphia, Penn.), and he provides The Ruddy Group with invaluable insight into the dynamics of cultural and intellectual diversity in marketing. Before teaching at Penn State University, Dr. Glenn was a Professor in Principles of Marketing, Principles of E-Commerce, and Fundamentals of Selling at Camden College in Blackwood, New Jersey. He is a member of the American Football Coaches Association, the Marine Corps League, and Gateway Church, in Coatesville, PA But wait – there is more to this amazing, athletic, creative, spiritual leader.

Dr. Glenn is a published author for the American Football Coaches Association, penning Adding Motivation to Coaching Concepts can be Self-Contagious, and he completed a doctoral dissertation entitled, A Qualitative Ethnographic Study of African American Leadership in Higher Education Administration (2010). He also published six books entitled: The Triangle Plan: A Guide to a Successful Life Derived from Personal Experience (2011), American Christianity: Truth or Tradition? A Personal Perspective (2012), and The Dissertation Process That Works: A Doctoral Guide to Success (2013). More recently, Dr. Glenn has published Christian Leadership: Alpha to Omega (2015), and Heroes From Heaven: Battle Ground Earth/Good vs. Evil (2016).

In short, Dr. Glenn is an individual who is always inspiring, admonishing, and reaching higher as he strives to both deliver – and, even more importantly, to live – his central message about meeting one’s potential in order to further greater good in the world. Currently, he is invested in and excited about his latest project – producing Heroes from Heaven as a film.

The tale, as briefly alluded to at the beginning of this article, begins to be set in force. Desperation, doom, and demise explode on the screen, exciting viewers visually, but, more fundamentally, challenging them spiritually, as goodness, wisdom and perseverance prevail. “Where is the world headed to?” a film viewer wonders.

More fundamentally, because, as Dr. Glenn instructs - change begins with the alighting of a fire in each individual’s soul - a viewer is challenged and admonished to be introspective and to inquire “Where am I going and how do I fit in to furthering the greater good?”

The upcoming film production, Heroes from Heaven, has recently established an initial team who are masterfully merging their expertise, and their extensive and award winning backgrounds to jumpstart this exciting future film production. Glenn is the creator, writer and an executive producer. Zaughn Elizabeth Ivins is an executive producer. Alex Lorre is producer. Jean Scoccimarro is the casting director. Post Production Supervisor is Jeffrey Baxter, while Marina Kufa serves as an associate producer. The screenplay was by Claire Hutchinson.

A riveting film that magically merges the Christian message of salvation with elements of Sci Fi-infused segments that excite, Dr. Glenn is delighted to bring his script to the big screen. He even shared with Hollywood Weekly that there is “a realistic possibility that the well-known actor of numerous top hit feature films, Luis Antonio Ramos, may share the screen with other luminaries as the biblically significant thriller goes to production.”

As his cinematic vision approaches fruition, Dr. Scott is seeking further funding for his aspirational project.
